Dear Colleague:

We invite you to participate in our fifth annual Texas Interview Program. The program will be held Friday, August 11, 2006, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Magnolia Hotel, located at 1401 Commerce Street, Dallas. You will select interviewees through full prescreening of students from four well-regarded law schools.

All of our schools offer highly qualified candidates. The median LSAT scores and median undergraduate grade point averages of our students are comparable to those of students attending the most selective national law schools. Students genuinely interested in living and working in Texas will travel to Dallas at their own expense for this event. We hope you will join us this year to interview second and third year law students.

In the past few years many prominent employers from Texas have interviewed our students for summer and permanent employment. A list of past program registrants is printed on the back of this letter.

To register, please submit the enclosed registration form and a check to cover fees by Monday, May 15, 2006. The registration fee is $290 per schedule, which includes lunch and one interview suite beginning at 8:30 a.m., Friday, August 11. Each interview will last 20 minutes. The registration fee will be waived for public interest and government employers interviewing in shared space.

If you wish to receive resumes from interested students, but are unable to participate in the program, we will collect resumes and send them to you as a group for your review.

We are confident that you will find this program a convenient and attractive method to meet outstanding candidates from our highly regarded schools. Additional information is available about each of our schools at our respective websites listed below. We look forward to hearing from you and to seeing you in August.

Sincerely,

Non-discrimination Policies for Participating Law Schools

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Law is committed to providing its students and graduates with equal opportunity to obtain employment, without discrimination on the grounds of race, sex, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation or marital status. Use of CSO facilities is restricted to students and prospective employers who agree to comply with the School of Law’s anti-discrimination policy.

Wake Forest University is committed to equal opportunity in education and employment and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, sexual orientation, handicap, disability, or status as a disabled or Vietnam era veteran. Recruiting services are available only to those employers whose practices are in agreement with this policy.

The Washington and Lee University School of Law opposes discrimination in employment based on sex, age, race, religion, national origin, handicap or disability, sexual orientation or any other legally impermissible or irrelevant ground. The facilities and services of the School are available only to those employers whose practices are consistent with this statement, and use of the facilities and services of the School of Law is construed as an affirmation by the employer that it does not so discriminate in selecting employees at any stage of the employment process. The Association of American Law Schools has taken the position that the current employment practices of the United States Armed Services do discriminate on the basis of sexual orientation, and has granted a limited exemption to permit Armed Services representatives to recruit on campus due to the potential loss of funding to the University that would result from the Solomon Amendment.

William & Mary School of Law does not discriminate unlawfully in any of its programs, procedures, or practices against any person on the basis of age, color, disability, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, or veteran or marital status. By using our facilities or services, employers signify that their practices at all stages of the recruitment and employment process are consistent with this policy.
