Location and Time:

Classroom D – Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 9:00 am – 9:55 am

Reading Assignments:

I will post basic course documents on TWEN. The password for TWEN is: renvoi.

Please download the Syllabus and Assignment Sheet 1. I would ask that you review the questions under the INTRODUCTION section of the Assignment Sheet.

Please come prepared to discuss the readings and begin to think about how to answer the questions posed in the Assignment Sheet.

NB: When you are considering these questions, I encourage you to remember that I would not expect you to know the answers to all these questions at the start of the semester. Rather, my hope is that going through these questions will help you identify gaps in your knowledge and appreciate the unique value that Conflicts of Law can add to your legal skill set. So, if you get confused or perplexed, please do not to worry. The class is precisely designed to help you work through these mentally intricate issues and provide you with a clear path forward so that you can be a better lawyer and serve clients more effectively. Having the skills—which you will learn in Conflicts—provides a comparative advantage in the legal marketplace as you will be able to answer challenging questions that others will not.

If you have any questions, please contact me at francks@wlu.edu.
