WORKERS’ RIGHTS CAREER RESOURCES

1. PsLawNet: Located at www.pslawnet.org, the Public Service Law Network is a clearinghouse for law students and lawyers to connect with public interest career opportunities. Many labor and employment law firms, nonprofits, government agencies and unions post internship and job announcements on PsLawNet. This is also a particularly useful website for performing nationwide searches of workers’ rights organizations, post-graduate fellowships (i.e. Equal Justice Works, Skadden, Soros, Echoing Green, etc.), and federal attorney honors programs.

2. Private Public Interest and Plaintiff’s Firm Guide: This Guide, a collaboration between Columbia Law and Harvard Law Schools, contains an expansive list of private law firms (organized by state) specializing in public interest and plaintiff-side representation. Common areas of practice include employment discrimination, labor law and civil rights. The Guide is available as a PDF document on PsLawNet.

3. NALP Federal Legal Employment Opportunities Guide: This publication is available as a PDF on PsLawNet. The comprehensive Guide contains information about federal government careers, application tips and job opportunities for students, recent graduates and experienced attorneys.

4. LCC Hiring Hall: The AFL-CIO’s Lawyer’s Coordinating Committee is a membership organization of over 1900 lawyers who represent AFL-CIO unions, either in private practice or as an in-house counsel. Each month, the LCC publishes the “LCC Hiring Hall” on-line with job postings for permanent jobs and internships. The site also contains a resume bank, job resources and other info about union careers. Visit unionlawyers.aflcio.org/p/salsa/web/common/public/index.sjs.

5. Union Job Clearinghouse: A central site for posting hundreds of job openings at unions (legal and non-legal) in the U.S. and abroad can be found at www.unionjobs.com. Job seekers may search for union staffing positions by state, country or in alphabetical order by group. Examples of union jobs include community organizers, attorney/legal counsel, legislative director, communication specialist, executive director, membership representative, grievance officer, etc.

6. LCC Minority Outreach Program: This program provides paid summer positions for law students of color at union-side firms and unions. Perks of the program include a law clerk networking conference, attorney mentor program and access to an alumni network. Visit unionlawyers.aflcio.org/p/salsa/web/common/public/content?content_item_KEY=915 for a list of participating agencies, or contact Angell Wade for more information at awade@aflcio.org.

7. AFL-CIO Law Student Union Summer: This program provides a paid 10-week summer internship to law students with local union counsel to work across the country on active organizing campaigns. Students gain hands on experience working with members and union staff on legal issues surrounding organizing and elections. The application for the 2012 Law Student Union Summer is now available at www.aflcio.org/aboutus/isus/, or contact Nancy Schiffer at nschiffe@aflcio.org.

8. LCC Attorney Directory: The LCC publishes an annual directory of its membership, which includes a nation-wide listing of 1900 union-side labor and employment attorneys. The Directory can be used for contact information when seeking permanent employment with any of the listed organizations. The directory is available upon request by a law school administrator (for the purposes of helping individuals seek employment). Requests should be made to Donna Euben at deuben@aflcio.org.
